My Right to Read!
September 24-30, 2017 is Banned Book Week. “Banned Books Week is an annual event celebrating the freedom to read. The books featured during Banned Books Week have all been targeted with removal or restrictions in libraries and schools. While books have been and continue to be banned, part of the Banned Books Week celebration is the fact that, in a majority of cases, the books have remained available. This happens only thanks to the efforts of librarians, teachers, students, and community members who stand up and speak out for the freedom to read.”

Stand up for your right to read! Come by the library and have your picture taken with a banned book, and then, why not check it out and read it!

Olivia Reinauer, Interim Coordinator of Chesapeake Campus Library

Olivia joined TCC in 2014 as a Reference Librarian at the Portsmouth Campus. Prior to coming to TCC, she held positions at the University of Richmond, St. Edward’s University (Austin, TX), and the University of Texas Libraries. Olivia has a Bachelor’s in Liberal Arts and a Master’s of Information Studies, both from the University of Texas at Austin.

Olivia’s professional interests include information literacy, user studies, and OER/open education. She leads the library’s OER Team and also serves as an Open Textbook Network System Leader for the Virtual Library of Virginia. Some of her personal interests include travel, reading (of course), and spending time with friends, family, and her dog (Albie).
